

Select which year groups your child/children attend(s): (96 responses)

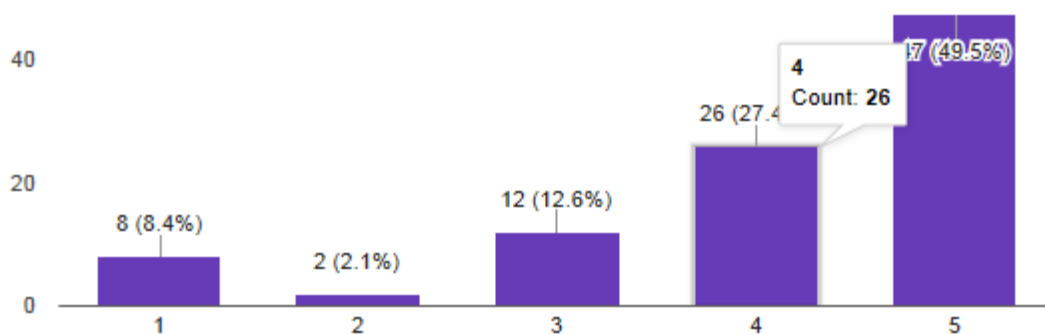

How important do you think are these functions of a Parent Council?

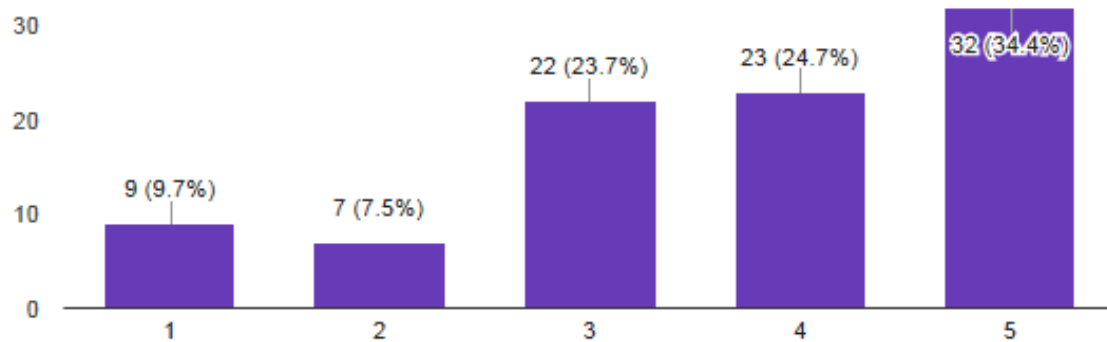

A forum for parents to voice concerns (95 responses)

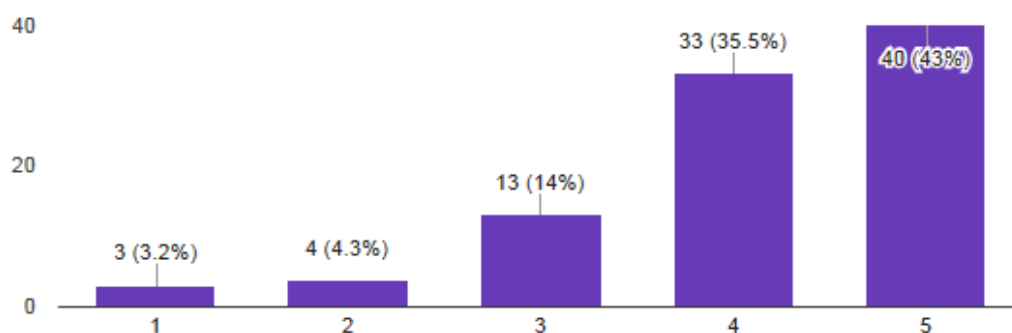

A group who support parents to understand what's going on in the school (95 responses)

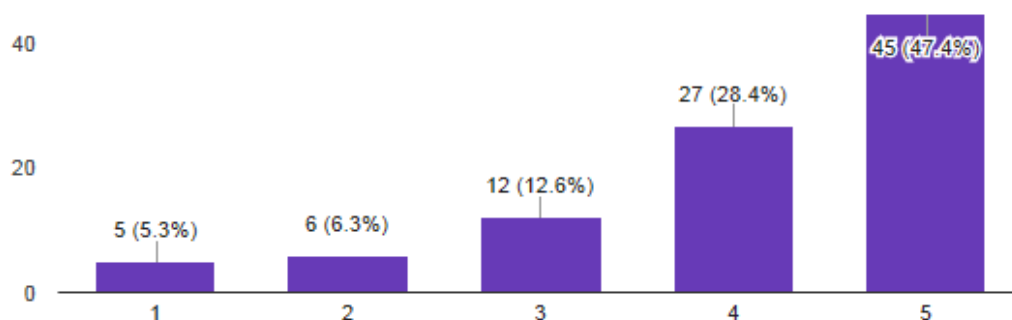

A group to organise family social events (93 responses)

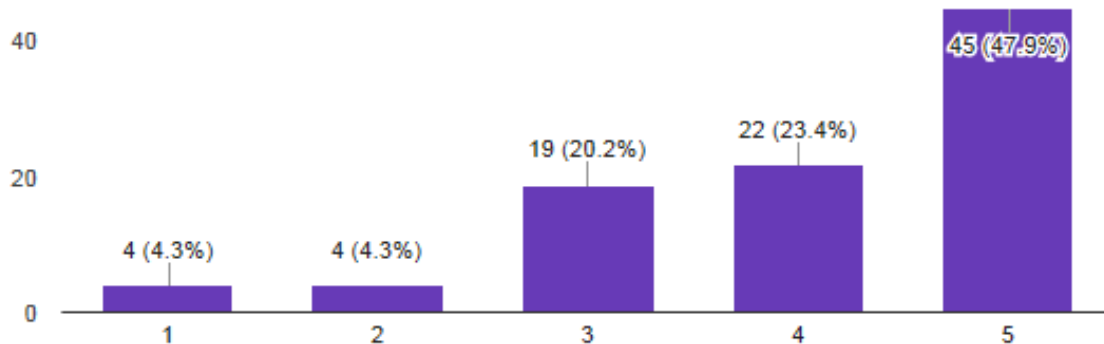

A consultation group to represent the views of all parents (93 responses)

A group to build better teacher-parent relationships (95 responses)

A group to raise funds for the school (94 responses)

Other purpose for the Parent Council: (7 responses)

To actually listen to what the parent has to say instead of being talked down to by the head teacher. If we have a voice they it should be listened to, not just heard.

For parents to have more of a role in school

Making sure all kids have access to supported studies

The group must be allowed to be a group to work independent from the needs of the head teacher. As the group is for the students it should be a priority

If children are having problems in any aspect of school life.

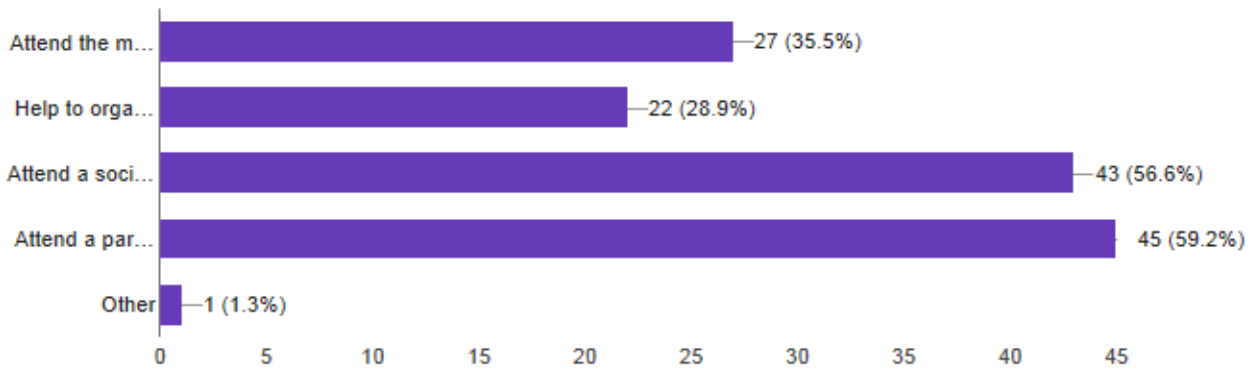

To make suggestions, views, opinions & complaints be heard and dealt with satisfactorily

To ensure that young carers have access to supported studies

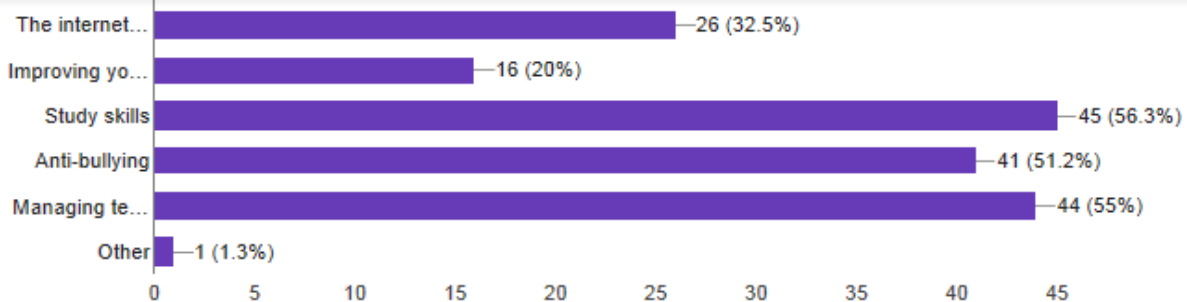

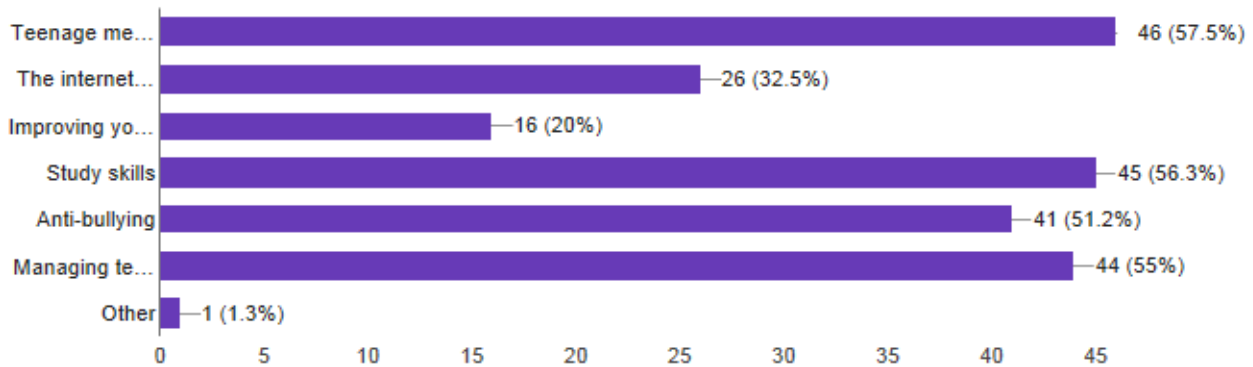

What should the Council do? What are you interested in supporting?

Which of these activities would you be able and willing to support?

(76 responses)

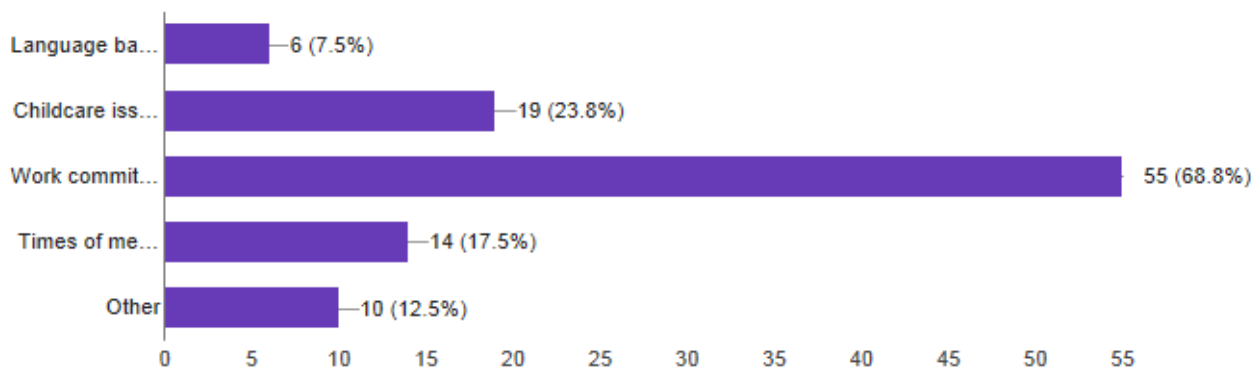

What would you be interested in finding out more about? (80 responses)

Is there anything that would stop you from engaging with school events?

(80 responses)

Final comments

Any other comments you think the Parent Council need to know? (8 responses)

The impact the words used by the head teacher during assembly and the negative impact this can have on pupils especially the ones who already try really hard at school I find highly unacceptable.

a yearly or half year report about the school activity with comparison to other schools including a summary about course offering development and relation with the university requirements and attending opportunities,... statistics.

I feel in certain cases children are not fulfilling their full potential and are being held back. Therefore, your motto of "Bringing Out The Best", is an absolute farce. Parents are not always aware that their children are being told to curb their talents so not to make others feel less able. Talented children should be encouraged in whatever they excel at.

When my daughter was in primary school I was very involved with the parent council and I would like to do this at St Mungos too. I am very involved in fundraising and working with the org in the school that I work in.

To stand up for the needs of the students

What happened to all the extra activities for the kids? Alton towers for example hasn't happened for two years.

Keep everyone up-to-date.

No

ACTIONS:

- The survey has been discussed by the Parent Council with the following reflections:
 - 96 responses made online
 - Emerging email list of parents who are keen to be informed; some parents don't have email so feedback also needs to be made available on website
 - Some concerns raised through the survey that may be more appropriate made to the school as complaints
 - Parents seem keen to participate in a variety of ways in the life of the school

- The following will be done:
 - The complaints mechanism for parents will be discussed by the school leadership team
 - Survey feedback will be made available on the website and emailed to those who provided an address;
 - Links and excerpts will be posted on social media
 - 2 parent learning events will be taken forward in June
 - A summary will be outlined at the AGM on 15th May